Chairs Introduction	03
Overview	04

Hello delegates, my name is Ali Al Ayssami and I will be your chair for the Emergency Reactionary Committee on Alien First Contact. I am currently in grade 11 and I've been part of L'Amoreaux's Model United Nations team since grade 9 and have since grown to love debate. In our previous conference, I chaired for the Conspiracy Committee and hope to transfer my love for conspiracies to this committee. I am excited to see the creativity of delegates in tackling this committee. My co-chair and I purposely left it open to interpretation to encourage debate and add a level of uncertainty to the situation. I hope my love for conspiracy will be mirrored by our delegates.

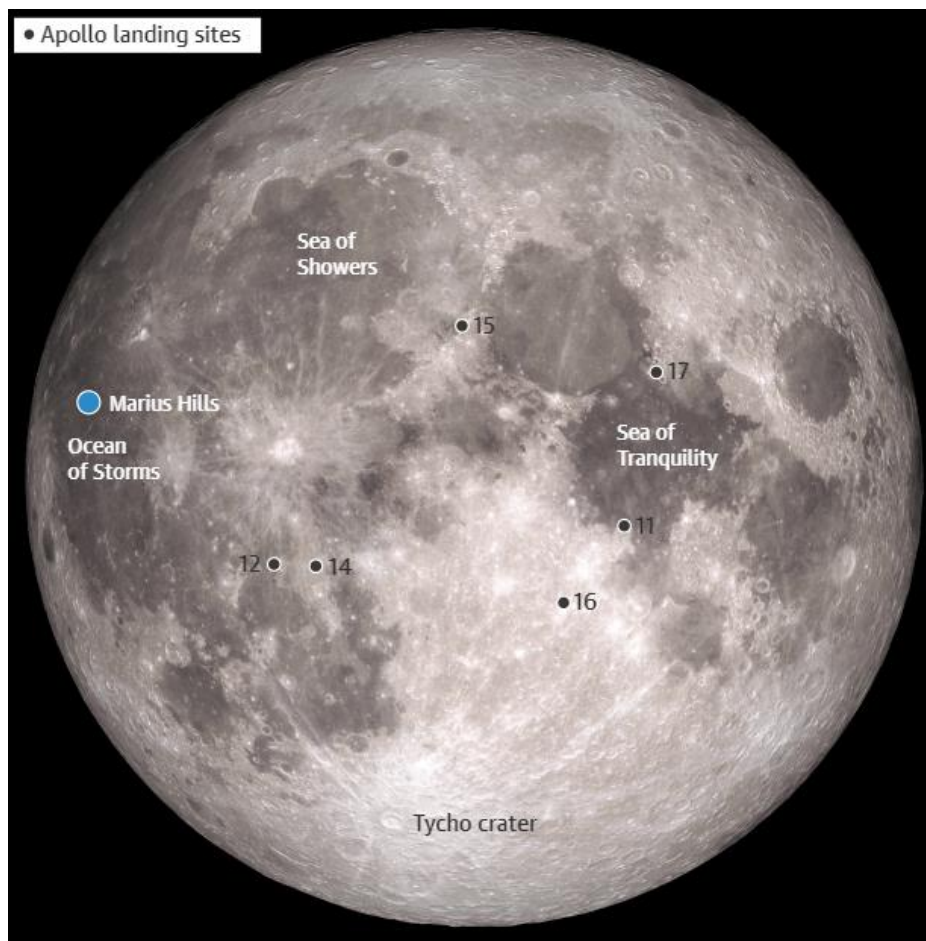

Hi delegates, my name is Harni Ganesarasa and I will be your co-chair for this crisis committee. I am proud to say that I have been apart of L'Amoreaux's Model United Nations club since grade 9 and and due to that fact, I am now very passionate about debate. We have been planning this conference for many months and are looking forward to sharing it with you. We anticipate a day full of effective debate in our new and exciting crisis committee. See you soon and happy debating! If you have any questions or concerns, please email me at harni.ganesarasa@outlook.com.

The Emergency Reactionary Committee on Alien First Contact discusses what would happen if humanity was given an ultimatum. Yield to a mysterious and possibly superior alien race, or face invasion and possibly extinction. World leaders will get together in this committee to discuss the actions of humanity. Peace, war, and deception are all an option, and the chairs are excited to see what the delegates will come up with. Delegates should expect crisis updates regarding the topic at hand. In this committee, anything can happen, at anytime.

Delegates, the Emergency Reactionary Committee on Alien First Contact (ERCAFC) has been called by the United Nations in response to the events of March 25, 2019, to April 1, 2019.

Overview

NASA has confirmed that on the morning of March 25, first contact with an unknown alien race was made. A message was sent from a location discovered by Japan's Speleological and Engineering Explorer (Selene) probe called Marius Hills. The location is believed to have a 50km deep cave system beneath it. Until recently, it served as a hopeful location for human colonization because of its welcoming conditions compared to the surface of the Moon.

The messages, sent to Russian satellites, were originally thought to be weather interference. However, after all the equipment was checked, Russian scientists confirmed that the messages seemed biological. It was quickly realized that the messages were encrypted in binary, and contained a message that reads in English.

According to the messages, Marius Hills serves as a military base for an advanced alien race. The alien race refers to themselves simply as “The Protectors.” Furthermore, they claim to be the supreme leaders of the Intergalactic Republic of Peace and Prosperity (IRPP). They laid out a document which would put Earth under their rule for as long as humanity lived. The document reads:

The Peace and Prosperity Agreement

As the supreme leaders of the Intergalactic Republic of Peace and Prosperity (IRPP), we expect certain requirements and standards from the inferior population of the planet Earth. For the sake of the galaxy, we advise that these regulations be agreed upon and followed. If these dictations are followed through, there will be certain gains for the human species. If these standards are not met, drastic measures will be pursued and Earth will rue the day that the Protectors stepped foot on it.

1. The Protectors are biologically superior to the inhabitants of Earth and therefore, the same citizen status will not be granted.
 - a. All human rights legislation on Earth will become invalid. Humans will be forced to follow the common law of the IRPP.
 - b. Humans are not to be classified as a race for any longer. The human population are to be categorized as a species.
 - c. Every occupant of Earth will not have a legally binding name. Every inhabitant will be given a seven-digit number that will be theirs for the entirety of their life.
 - d. The human species will become a dominion of the Republic
 - e. Due to the problem of overpopulation on Earth, families will be limited to two children.
2. As the superior race, we have certain expectations for our military base in Marius Hills. Transport to Marius Hills will be provided by the Republic. With the aid of the human species, we will continue to prosper for many eons to come.
 - . It will be required for 15% of human fossil fuels to be given to the military base.
 - a. Due to the harsh conditions in Marius Hills, agriculture is close to impossible to achieve and so it is obligatory for humans to provide the Protectors with 25% of their agriculture production.
 - b. 30% of aluminum, steel, and copper must be exported to Marius Hills.
 - c. An unspecified number of humans will be required to enter Marius Hills to live amongst us and fight as intergalactic soldiers. These individuals will be chosen in a lottery.
3. As the superiors, the Protectors will have executive powers over the planet of Earth.

- a. The Protectors will make executive decisions regarding the Earth in its entirety.
- b. Human law will remain in effect on top of intergalactic law.
- c. As a dominion of the IRPP, humans will still be able to create laws in their designated jurisdictions (countries), but will not be able to represent themselves in foreign affairs (interplanetary).
4. Full disclosure from the human population is required.
 - . The Protectors are required to know all decisions made by humans and we have the right to veto any of these decisions if they do not follow the regulations and/or are detrimental to the Republic.
 - a. All nations must share their confidential documents with the IRPP. The Republic can guarantee that the other nations of Earth will not have access to these documents.
 - b. Severe consequences will be enforced on the human population if secrecy and conspiring occur.
5. Rebellion will not occur under any circumstances.
 - . Humans that do not oblige with the rules and regulations set will be immediately sentenced to be Floated.
- i. Floating is in The Code of The Protectors as the punishment for deviating away from regulations. Floating entails the individual being floated into space with no protective equipment for their crimes committed against the Protectors.
 - a. Rebellious organizations will not be tolerated. They will be promptly shut down and dealt with.
6. One seat will be given to the human species in The Intergalactic Policial Parliament (IPP).
 - . With this seat, the human species will be allowed to voice their concerns and hopes for the future of Earth and the Republic.
 - a. With this one seat amongst 150, the human population will be allowed to vote in intergalactic matters.
7. The generous Protectors will provide humans with technology that would benefit the lives of every being.
 - . Medical technologies that would effectively end death-by-disease.
 - a. Agricultural technologies to improve the efficiency of current production.
 - b. Technology that would advance the interconnectivity of the internet.
8. If all rules and regulations are followed, humans can continue to live their lives.
 - a. Freedom is guaranteed for the human population if they follow every dictate.
 - b. Humans are still authorized to have children (under the limit), get married and live their lives happily.

These rules and regulations are designed to better the human species. There is an expiry date for this offer of peace amongst humans and the Protectors. If we do not receive a reply before April 5th at 3 pm, the Protectors will invade Earth and consequences will be dire for the human species.

The existence of extraterrestrial life was always a possibility, but was never proven and if found, was never expected to be intelligent. The discovery of the so called "Protectors," took the scientific community by surprise. However, groups that believe that aliens have always visited Earth and that they secretly run our government have become loud voices among the chaos. And worse yet, their movement is growing.

The claims seem outlandish at first, crazy even, but as the UN delved deeper into the situation, well, the events speak for themselves. It really begins with Area 51. After WW2, the US bought Area 51 to primarily test various experimental aircraft. It soon became a classified area and its existence was denied by the US government despite countless pieces of evidence which arose at the time.

The secrecy of Area 51 became publicly known after the Roswell incident. The incident involved a UFO which crashed in Roswell, New Mexico. The US authorities claimed it was a weather balloon, however, many eye witness reports do not line up with that narrative. Many of the claims involve a circular, disk-shaped aircraft that crashed with incredible might, something air balloons simply would not do. Furthermore, many citizens who approached the fallen aircraft reported seeing “tiny green men,” that seemed to have died in the crash. These reports are chilling on their own, but they are far from credible. What sparked interest in the incident was how authorities handled a so-called “weather balloon crash.” They quarantine the area, took witnesses into custody, and even brought the biohazard unit in. Seems like overkill for a weather balloon crash. The alleged aliens of the Roswell crash were said to have been sent to Area 51 for autopsies. However, this is unconfirmed.

In 2017, the US government admitted the existence of Area 51 and even confirmed that a UFO research program was actually conducted at the location. This raised the question, how long had the US government been conducting this research?

The conspiracy dives deeper, claiming that no research was ever done but rather, that the US, and other superpowers, have been colluding with aliens for a very long time. The US, in particular, seems to have a history with aliens dating as far back as 1966. The alleged alien involvement appears to exist at the very top of the executive branch, involving many US presidents.

PRESIDENT GERALD FORD:

In 1966, Michigan, Gerald Ford’s home state, experienced multiple UFO sightings. According to Gerald Ford, who was a congressman at the time, the Air Force’s investigation was lacking, and he called for a full congressional report. In response, Congress launched an “impartial, civilian investigation.” However, the investigation was cut short due to bias against UFOs. 8 years later, Gerald Ford became the president of the United States, and never opened up the case again.

PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER:

During Jimmy Carter’s campaign trail, the presidential candidate told a reporter that “If I ever become President, I’ll make every piece of information this country has about UFO sightings available to the public, and the scientists.” Carter was even nicknamed the “UFO president” for reporting his own UFO sighting and full support of NASA programs that search for extraterrestrial life. However, once Carter came into office in 1977, he never released classified UFO reports to the public, and never mentioned the topic again.

PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN:

In 1985, President Ronald Reagan, the President of the Soviet Union, and other world leaders, gathered at the first summit in Geneva. It is there where Reagan told Soviet leaders that if we were to discover "some alien life form that was going to attack the Earth,... then that knowledge would unite all the peoples of the world." One year later, while addressing the United Nations, he said "And yet I ask: is not an alien force already among us? What could be more alien to the universal aspirations of our people than war and the threat of war?" It is argued that Reagan was trying to warn the public by making constant reference to alien threats and alien invasions. The Illuminati forgave his outbursts, but he didn't go unpunished. Many claim they "blew his mind and called it Alzheimer's."

PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA:

On March 12, 2015, President Barack Obama was a guest on Jimmy Kimmel Live. Here's how Obama responds to questions regarding aliens:

Kimmel:

So, this is something I feel like, if I was president... it's unlikely that is ever going to happen, you never know, if I was the president...

Obama:

It was unlikely that I was going to be president...
(studio laughter)

Kimmel:

The moment I was inaugurated... my hand would just be... still be hot from touching the bible and I would immediately race to wherever they have the files about Area 51 and UFOs and I'd go through everything to find out what happened... Did you do that?

Obama:

That's why you will not be president...
'cause that's the first thing that you would do...
(They both laugh).

Obama (continued.)

The aliens won't let it happen... You'll reveal all their secrets... They exercise strict control over us.

Kimmel:

Now, you know there's a lot of people who will examine your facial expressions here, every twitch and everything and say, of course...
(Obama laughs. Kimmel continues)

Did you look, did you see, explore...?

Obama:
I can't reveal anything.

Kimmel:
Oh, really? Because President Clinton said, he did go right there and he did check and there was nothing.

Obama:
Well, you know, that's what we're instructed to say...
(studio laughter)

Could it be possible, that once in office, these U.S. Presidents discovered the truth about who really controls the power in this country? Have they been threatened into silence and now follow orders to stay alive? It seems like a definite possibility.

Furthermore, it seems interesting that the signal was allegedly received by Russian satellites, And that they did not disclose the contents of the message until March 27, two days after they claim they received the messages. Many are even skeptical of the entire situation, suggesting that it's all a ploy from the Russian government to test humanity, seek more control, or simply to show it's dominance. This would explain why the extraterrestrials are so vague in their origin, and so threatening in nature. Or perhaps, superpowers who were previously in contact with the aliens messed up negotiations. Now, the aliens are effectively silencing their loose dogs.

It is up to this committee to determine the legitimacy of these events, who is involved, and how to move forward. There is no doubt that updates on the situation will creep up during the intense debate.

Questions to consider:

1. Where did these aliens come from?
2. Who is involved with the aliens?
3. What exactly do they want from us?
4. Why humans?
5. What happens if we do not sign onto the agreement?
